MEDICINAL.

My Poor Back!

That "poor back" is held responsible for more than its share of the sufferings of mankind. If your dog bites a man who kicks it, do you blame the dog? On the same principle the kidneys utter their protest against nervousness, impure blood, and resulting constipation. These force them to do extraordinary work in ridding the resulting constipation. These force them system of the poisons which are the blood. Then the sufferer says the back aches; the kidneys are diseased. "Not yet;" but they will the blood purified, and the constipation of kidney troubles, and Paine's Celery With its tonic, purifying, and laxative kidneys, making it almost infallible in curing all diseases of the nerves and kidneys. If your hopes of cure have not been realized, try Paine's Celery Compound it gives perfect health to all who compain of "their poor backs". Price $1/10. pound; it gives perfect health to all who complain of "their poor backs." Price $1.00. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED PAPER.

Mr. Cleveland's Reception.

The most accurate conception of a reception at the White House may be obtained from the following written by "Bostonian" to the Washington Star:

"I thought on Saturday afternoon as I looked upon the thousands of ladies waiting to be admitted to the White House, if there was any other nation under the sun of whom it might so justly be said, "What fools these mortals be," as we Americans, and I one of the Americans.

"To a stranger coming to Washington for the first time, hoping, yes, longing, to see some "high life" at the capital, on being in-formed that the President's wife will give a reception, resolves at once that here is now a chance to be presented, also to see how she is dressed, to have a few words with her, and, of course, to be introduced to the re-ceiving party; and when one returns home to have something definite to tell one's friends. That is a woman's idea of a reception before they go, but alas! for the reality.

"As the reception (I wish a more appropriate name could be found) is to begin at 3 o'clock, it is thought advisable to arrive at the executive mansion at the hour named We arrived and lo, instead of waiking in we take our position in line on the pavement outside the gates and about in front of the Treasury building. While walting, we begin to look about us and find that it requires a policeman to about every one hundred women, presuma-bly to keep them in order, or possibly to prevent the late comers from pushing out one of the weaker sisters and taking her place in the line. Every few minutes we would move about two or three steps, and finally after one bour and a half of weary waiting in the cold, with feet and hands like ice, we reach the door, and feel at once as if we have just stepped into heaven. But then I hope heaven will never be so crowded as that place was, for evidently it was only an illustration of everything in the governmental line, for the ins in staying in and the outs were trying to get in so that all one could do would be to stay in the current and be carried forward.

"As one nears the doorway where the receiving party stand you are told to "keep the line moving ladies," then "break up there, go one at a time," "announce your name," and then with a shove from behind and somebody's hand to grasp you in front, you are pulled through and find yourself shot into the east room by an attendant who informs you in not the gentlest tones, that by Mrs. Cleveland. When you get time to take a breath you ask "did you see her?" "well, no," is the answer, "all I could possibly see was a tall lady in white, couldn't tell for the life of me whether she was young or old, dark or fair, and failed to tell what the dress was made of." Well, since we cannot see what we came to see we must feast our eyes on what we did not come to see. "The crowd bas blocked up the corridor leading to the conservatory, the early birds have blocked up the doorways, and short people can only gaze up at a sea of heads. Such a mixture! Women are there with babies in their arms, women with three or four half grown children, women well dressed and women poorly dressed, and here and there you see a man sandwiched in. Dr Walker is on band, and gives every one a chance to admire her manly propor tions. A giddy young man, when the Marine band plays a lively piece, feels as if he must wiggle and shake himself all over to let people know how fond he is of danc-

The pushing, the elbowing, the beg pardons, &c., the black looks one woman knows so well how to bestow on another, makes it all something to be remembered. Dispirited and despairing with aching limbs, we make our way homeward, but notwithstanding all our trials we have something to look back upon, for we have been to one of Mrs. Cleveland's receptions."

MRS. GOULD'S FORTUNE.-It is understood that Mrs. Gould's fortune will be divided almost entirely among the children-Her jewels will go to her daughters. They are numerous, although she rarely wore them, and include a necklace of pearls with a locket, formerly belonging to the Empress Eugenie, which Mr. Gould gave to his wife as a Christmas present in 1872. The cost of the necklace is $28,000.-Philadelphia

ACTION OF THE COLORED CLERGY,-The colored clergy of the Episcopal diocese of Virginia assembled in conference at the Bishop Payne Divinity School on St. John the Evangelist's day, 1888, (by special request of the diocese) deem it inexpedient and hurtful to the work to appeal to the diocesan Council for the erection of a colored mission within the boundary of this diocese.
